DROUGHT-TALE DRAMA TOPIC IN CONTESTS

Woman Hopes To Make East Understand West's Problem

OTTAWA, April 29.—Miss Evans Bicknell, author of the play "Retired," arrived here today and said: "If writing this play should increase the understanding between the east and the west, I shall feel it worthwhile."

The Marshall, Sask., farmer's wife whose play was performed last night at the fifth of the fifth Dominion Drama Festival, wrote of conditions in the drought belt in southern Saskatchewan.

They stood in her eyes as she described conditions in the drought area. "My play could be taken from the lives of hundreds of western people—people accustomed to luxury, reduced to absolute poverty, no relief, with only fuel enough to heat a few rooms."

GOING TO COAST
"As in the play, men are driven to suicide, discouraged by the terrible conditions induced by frost, drought and low prices. The young people are leaving for jobs on the west coast."

Mrs. Bicknell and her husband who acts in the play with his wife, have lived 14 years on their present farm, four miles across of the little town of Marshall, farming being that in Alberta.

When they were first married they lived in California. They have a daughter working there now, and a son of 21 at home. He is in charge of the farm during their trip east. A tractor man is helping him.

GOING TO STAY
"I am not likely to leave Bicknell, tall and sturdy-complexioned husband of the author, on being asked if he would leave the west."

"It was a fine fertile country and can be again," he declared. "In our particular district conditions are better than elsewhere. One good crop at present prices would put us on our feet again."

Some of his land has produced 50 bushels an acre. During the last years our dairy farming has kept us going. There is a modern house, with all conveniences except electricity."

He disclaims all credit for the success of his wife's play. "She is the sole author. All I did was read the script and offer a few suggestions and criticism. I became interested in dramatics because my wife was so keen about it."

"I had to be in the farm to act in my first play, some years ago," he said. "An actor had dropped out and they had to have somebody. Since then I have played everything from 'The Purple Heart' to the smooth society 'Willow'. Now I am very interested and enjoy it."

Torch Singer

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—A note to pretty, torch singing Francis Langford regretting, "I am not your eternal soul mate" was left behind today by a dance orchestra violinist whose body was found yesterday in a gas-filled garage.

Faust, 36, who was slumped in his automobile, a bus extending from the exhaust to his mouth, had played in Raymond P. Page's orchestra.

Detective Joseph Page said Faust committed suicide after writing a series of notes, one of which he severed the screen actress released to marry him and go to Samoa.

KEMBRIDGE, Mass., April 29.—Dragged beneath his harbours when his motor boat engine oil boiled, Alvin, 30, was found yesterday, 10 miles north of his home, his death having been reported by his mother.

An important group of musical features, many of them arranged in observance of National Music Week, distinguishes the WABC-Columbia schedule for Thursday, May 4. Columbia's "Story of the Song" presents Fritz Lehner, operatic baritone, in a concert from Gustav Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer," a famous cycle seldom heard on the air. "Musical Americana" offers the world premiere of Lily Strickland's new "Character Suite." Howard Barlow's "Top Concert" devotes an entire program to the works of American composers.

In the field of lighter entertainment Al Johnson is starred in a radio sketch of "Viva Villa," based on Edgemoor Finch's book. Al Pearce entertains Ed and Zeb, the country storekeepers, on "Watch the Fun Go By." Jack Oakie features more comic routines on "Jack Oakie's College" and "Hammerstein Music Hall" presents Rhoda A. Arnold, soprano, and Arthur Carson, Metropolitan Opera tenor.

From London the Hon. Ellen C. Wilkinson, Labor Member of Parliament, speaks on "A Commoner Looks at the Coronation."

DAUGHTER OF THE FAMOUS
DOLores DEL RIO, 12, 1077
BOLIVIA, CALIF. (APRIL 29)

CLAUDE BARRETT'S part in "The Return of Hannibal" is not as important as the one he played in the "Caliban and Ariel" comedy that recently amused the nation. She does not appear on the stage until well into the drama. That is how the script was written anyway. Once on the stage, however, she not only becomes attracted to a man old enough to be her father, but she who actually is her father. Only they don't know about the relationship at first. Seems as if Hannibal played around a bit in Rome and didn't know he had a daughter there.

Producers of the play say Elaine has "stage presence" and will surprise a lot of doubters. After all, she never didn't have seven or eight weeks stock experience with Mary

Exotic Star Favors Quaint Old Fabrics

Two of Hollywood's favorite fabric for the approaching summer season are taffeta and organdy. Even the sophisticated Marlene Dietrich is wearing "Angel" combines these two popular materials in a dress for her personal wardrobe. The bodies is of black taffeta with short sleeves and neck-trimmed in organdy. The taffeta continues down to the hem, where it is striped in a light waitline where black and white diagonally striped organdy is draped, allowing it into a full, flowing skirt.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The United States mints are producing the greatest number of coins in their history, and Min. Director Nellie Rose says an upturn in business is responsible.

"I think there is no question but that the demand for coins of all sizes is the result of business activity," Mrs. Rose told a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee today.

Uphill Climb Climax of Ocean Rescue After Pet's Fall

Death seemed certain for Snarky, a snappy little dog, when he fell into the Pacific off a cliff near Santa Cruz, Calif. Then Snarky's master, Ross Newfarmer, and a friend snatched the little form, a mere dark dot in the surf, indicated by the arrow.

Hailing passably, Newfarmer had found a rope while he lowered himself 30 feet to where Snarky was in distress.

After risking death to haul Snarky from the surf, Newfarmer started the ascent, rope in one hand, dog in the other.

Rescuer and rescued were nearly exhausted when they reached the beach. There, another took ahead, lay complete safety. A foot behind, disaster still threatened. But by this time many hands were ready to pull the two over the edge to level ground.
